Waste less in 2017 Sign up for organics recycling

Free kitchen collection containers and extra compostable bags now available

About 30% of your trash is organic material that could be put to a better use through composting instead of being treated as garbage. Resolve to waste less in 2017 by signing up to receive a green organics cart for composting.

How do I participate?

All Minneapolis Solid Waste & Recycling customers can get a green organics recycling cart at no extra cost by signing up online or by calling 612-673-2917. Once you receive your cart, collect your food scraps and non-recyclable paper in a compostable bag and place the bagged organics in your green organics cart. The cart is serviced weekly on the same day as your garbage.

Why participate?

Receive bonus of 6 months' worth (30 count) of compostable plastic bags for free. The bags are mailed to you after you sign up.

Pick up a free kitchen collection container from a community organization near you.

Save money by reducing the number of size of your garbage cart(s).

No extra charge to participate.

Where can I pick up a free kitchen collection container?

Pick up a container at our January 10, 2017 SCNA Neighborhood and Board meeting.

How can I sign up?

For more information about organics recycling or to sign up, visit
